THE STATE AT LARGE.

HOW THE NOMINATION OF MAHONE IS RECEIVED IN MECKLENBURG.

A Farmer on the Tariff-Sales of New To-

[Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.] CHASE CITY, VA., August 26, 1889. The nomination of General Mahone by the Norfolk Convention greatly surrised and disheartened the iere. This was an anti-Mahone stronghold, and Captain Sloan, the white Langstonite leader here, solidified op-position to the boss. But Sloan returned from the convention converted and will now try to smooth over all of his former denunciation of the boss and rally his black allies for the ticket. This will not be an easy matter, for the antagonism to "Mahone methods" in this county have been deep-rooted. A plain but sensible old farmer was asked by a Republican here, "How was the McKinney-Democratic platform on the tariff?" He replied, "This is election, but one for local self-government, whether our State officers shall be men of honesty, intelligence, and virtue, or men who will plunder and degrade us with revengeful and victors natures. Whether a man is a protectionist or tariff-reformer the safety and welfare of his home, the peace and good order of society, are paramount to all tariff questions, and a white man who tries to dupe neither a presidential nor congressional
